Sommario/riassunto	Schizophrenia Bulletin seeks to publish recent developments and empirically based hypotheses regarding the etiology, pathophysiology and treatment of schizophrenia and related disorders. We view the field as broad and deep and will publish new knowledge ranging from molecular to social and cultural factors. We will give new emphasis to translational reports which simultaneously highlight basic neurobiological mechanisms and clinical manifestations. Some of the Bulletin content is invited as special features or manuscripts organized as a theme by special guest editors. Most pages of the Bulletin are devoted to unsolicited manuscripts of high quality that report original data or where we can provide a special venue for a major study or workshop report. Supplement issues are sometimes arranged for reports from a recent conference or proposed to highlight a specific area.
