

- | | |
|-------------------------|---|
| 1. Record Nr. | UNINA990003205040403321 |
| Titolo | Statistiques relatives aux assurances : Tableaux comparatifs des statistiques relatives aux assurances pour 1987 / OCDE |
| Pubbl/distr/stampa | Paris : OCDE, 1990 |
| Descrizione fisica | 100 p. ; 30 cm |
| Disciplina | J/3 |
| Locazione | SE |
| Collocazione | S
J/3 OCD |
| Lingua di pubblicazione | Italiano |
| Formato | Materiale a stampa |
| Livello bibliografico | Monografia |
-
- | | |
|-------------------------|--|
| 2. Record Nr. | UNINA9910136043403321 |
| Autore | Faulkner Donna |
| Titolo | Hitler: 1889-1933 |
| Pubbl/distr/stampa | New Word City, Inc |
| ISBN | 1-61230-928-3 |
| Lingua di pubblicazione | Inglese |
| Formato | Materiale a stampa |
| Livello bibliografico | Monografia |
| Sommario/riassunto | Germany's Adolf Hitler was, without argument, a monster. He unleashed the horrors of World War II and ordered the murder of millions in his quest to create his twisted version of a pure German empire. In this, the first of a two-volume biography of "der Fuhrer," New York Times bestselling author Donna Faulkner explores Hitler's rise to power - as well as the twisted roots of his genocidal brutality. His story | is one of dysfunction and megalomania: from Hitler's early days as a frustrated schoolboy and artist to a power-hungry, and masterful, politician who manipulated the German people wracked by economic deprivation. Nearly three-quarters of a century later, the world is still grappling with the horrific legacy of Adolf Hitler. Here's how it all began.
