

1.	Record Nr.	UNINA990006476100403321
	Titolo	EAST Africa and the Orient : cultural syntheses in Pre-Colonial Times / Edited by H. Neville Chittick and Robert I. Rotberg
	Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York-London : Africana Pub. Co., 1975
	Descrizione fisica	VIII, 343 p. ; 22 cm
	Disciplina	967.6
	Locazione	FSPBC
	Collocazione	XIV E 358
	Lingua di pubblicazione	Italiano
	Formato	Materiale a stampa
	Livello bibliografico	Monografia
2.	Record Nr.	UNINA9910483509403321
	Autore	Colburn Forrest D.
	Titolo	Colonialism, Independence, and the Construction of Nation-States / / by Forrest D. Colburn
	Pubbl/distr/stampa	Cham : , : Springer International Publishing : , : Imprint : Palgrave Macmillan, , 2021
	ISBN	9783030547165 3030547167
	Edizione	[1st ed. 2021.]
	Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (ix, 154 pages) : illustrations
	Collana	Palgrave pivot
	Disciplina	320.91724 320
	Soggetti	Globalization Regionalism Comparative government Comparative Politics
	Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
	Formato	Materiale a stampa
	Livello bibliografico	Monografia
	Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references.

Nota di contenuto

Intro -- Contents -- List of Plates -- Introduction -- A Tumultuous Transition -- European Imperialism and the Remaking of the World -- Emancipation and the Quest for "Development" -- Good-Bye to the "Third World" -- Asia Looms Over Latin America, Africa, and the Middle East -- Captive to Commodities -- Nicaragua as a Sobering Illustration -- Seeking a New Compass -- Plates -- Bibliography

---

Sommario/riassunto

"Why have some poor countries remained "underdeveloped," or even "failed," while others have become richer and stronger? In the successful group, have a few-notably China-enhanced methods long used by European imperialists to extract national resources from weaker countries? Has solidarity among poor countries ended? What does the future hold for poor countries? For compelling answers to these questions, read Colburn's Colonialism, Independence, and the Construction of Nation-States.' - Lynn T. White III, Professor, Princeton University, New Jersey, USA 'Colburn's Colonialism, Independence, and the Construction of Nation-States is both an enlightening and enjoyable read. It is wide-ranging yet enlivened by telling examples.' - Michael Doyle, Professor, Columbia University, New York, USA 'Forrest Colburn's Colonialism, Independence, and the Construction of Nation-States is in part, and most significantly, a welcome attempt to revisit the history of basic ideas from the past, that should not have been shelved. Development, Third World, colonialism, North-South, are notions that surfaced in the sixties and seventies, and faded under the influence of excessive enthusiasm for "emerging markets" in the new century. Colburn explains splendidly why the history of these notions, and their content, is more relevant than ever.' - Jorge Castañeda, Former Foreign Minister of Mexico, and Professor, New York University, New York, USA This book analyzes how the poorer countries of the world have a shared history: these many countries were assaulted, overrun, and sometimes even formed by European colonialism. The wave of accessions to legal independence in the aftermath of World War II was of extraordinary importance. There was an intoxicating confidence and determination, a sense that everything was possible. A half-century later, the world looks different. The author adroitly delineates the uneven performance of newly-constructed or reimagined nation-states, and the shifting perceptions of the poorer countries in the world. Forrest D. Colburn is a Professor at the City University of New York, New York, USA.

---