| Sommario/riassunto | Lana is the new owner of Whispering Pines, a large estate in upper Maine. The young woman from New York just inherited the mansion as well as a great deal of money from a relative she didn't know she had. |

Lana was raised in an orphanage, her parents having been killed in a car accident when she was only two years old. The house she now owns holds many dark secrets and is haunted by a variety of ghosts. She encounters hidden panels, secret rooms, and an underground network of long-forgotten passages and staircases that catacomb the estate and lead to the ocean. Lana learns that her bloodline comes from a succession of merchants, seafarers, and pirates. Almost immediately, ghosts and visions appear to her, repeatedly drawing Lana to a mysterious hallway that seems to go nowhere, yet holds the mansion's most shocking secret of all. After several ghostly encounters, Lana, her housekeeper, and friends set out to right the wrongs that have haunted the estate for so long. Will the ghosts finally be able to rest in peace? As Lana leaves the estate, she vows to return one day. She looks back to see two ghostly figures that appear to be smiling.

Becky Spurling Collier lives in Alabama with her husband and sons. Her hobbies are cooking for family and friends, and enjoying Halloween parties, spook houses, and horror movies.
