Sommario/riassunto	This book is divided into four sections. In the first, which deals with Sexuality and Corporeality, the themes presented address the concept of corporeality, gender and the search for health services, body image in women with depression and the policy of harm reduction in situations of sexuality and vulnerability. In the second section, Intercurrences in child development, the themes refer to child development, addressing the effects of lead and schooling, the social skills of children with siblings with autistic spectrum disorder or with typical development, and the occurrence of stress and bullying in children overweight and obese. The third section, entitled Adolescents: motherhood, risk and protective factors, addresses the topic of teenage pregnancy and motherhood, family interactions of adolescent mothers and risk and protective factors in adolescents with mental disorders. The fourth section, entitled "Stress management and other factors in different adult populations", addresses stress in university students with temporomandibular disorders, in urban bus drivers or in patients with oral lichen.
