Sommario/riassunto	The Brazilian Association of Social Psychology (ABRAPSO) has been affirming its commitment to the area of Social Psychology, constituting a space for scientific production and dissemination that has stood out on the national scene. In order to contribute to the production of knowledge in this area, in November 2002, the IX ABRAPSO Regional Meeting was held, hosted at the University of Vale do Itajaí (UNIVALI), in Itajaí - Santa Catarina with the theme Ethics and Paradigms of Social Psychology. This event brought together students and professionals from Psychology and related fields, with different knowledge and stories. Fulfilling one of the objectives of the ABRAPSO scientific community, this book summarizes the search to improve and expand the discussions held at this meeting.
