Sommario/riassunto	Collection of texts presented in the Graduate Program in Education for Science, based at the Faculty of Sciences of UNESP, in the area of Science and Mathematics teaching. The Program's research nucleus focuses on studies on science, scientific education and the relationship between scientific knowledge and its teaching. Thus, it encourages reflection on the processes involved in the construction of scientific and technological knowledge, in addition to contributing to the production of a body of philosophical, scientific and pedagogical knowledge aimed at training teachers and other professionals in the field.
