Sommario/riassunto	Study on the phenomenon of the poor and poverty in Santiago city in the 19th century, and the reaction of the political and economic elite. What to do with the poor? is the provocative title of this book that is published for the first time in Chile. This was also the question posed by the Santiago elite (and Chilean in general) during much of the nineteenth century, a question that still retains all its relevance. The suggestive explanation of Luis Alberto Romero for the complex path of mentalities, images and representations of the other, opens new perspectives for the social history of Chile ...
