Sommario/riassunto	Sanctions law is currently the subject of numerous reform discussions. Encouraged by judgments of the European Court of Human Rights and the Federal Constitutional Court, the right of preventive detention has already been changed in recent years. To change the right of accommodation in the psychiatric hospital acc. § 63 StGB is a discussion draft of the federal-state working group before. However, it must be asked if and when changes in individual regulations do not lead to a change in the two-lane sanction system per se. For this reason, the Criminal Science Colloquium in 2014 set itself the task of focusing on the system of custodial sanctions as a whole and of identifying any possible need for reform. The annual Criminal Science Colloquium takes up current topics in the field of the entire criminal law and wants to enrich the technical discussion through scientific exchange. This volume contributes to the reform discussion in the field of sanctions law. Das Sanktionenrecht ist derzeit Gegenstand zahlreicher Reformdiskussionen. Angestoßen durch Urteile des Europäischen

Gerichtshofs für Menschenrechte und des Bundesverfassungsgerichts wurde das Recht der Sicherungsverwahrung in den vergangenen Jahren bereits verändert. Zu einer Änderung des Rechts der Unterbringung im Psychiatrischen Krankenhaus gem. § 63 StGB liegt ein Diskussionsentwurf der Bund-Länder-Arbeitsgruppe vor. Zu fragen ist jedoch, ob und wann Veränderungen einzelner Vorschriften nicht auch zu einer Veränderung des zweispurigen Sanktionensystems an sich führen. Aus diesem Grund machte es sich das Kriminalwissenschaftliche Kolloquium 2014 zur Aufgabe, das System der freiheitsentziehenden Sanktionen als Ganzes in den Blick zu nehmen und einen möglicherweise bestehenden Reformbedarf herauszuarbeiten. Das jährlich stattfindende Kriminalwissenschaftliche Kolloquium greift jeweils aktuelle Themen aus dem Bereich der gesamten Strafrechtswissenschaften auf und möchte die fachliche Diskussion im Wege des wissenschaftlichen Austauschs bereichern. Dieser Band liefert einen Beitrag zur Reformdiskussion im Bereich des Sanktionenrechts.

Sommario/riassunto	The years between the end of World War II and the mid-1960s have usually been viewed as an era of political and social consensus made possible by widely diffused prosperity, creeping Americanization and fears of radical subversion, and a dominant culture challenged periodically by the claims of marginal groups. By exploring what were actually the mainstream ideologies and cultural practices of the period, the authors argue that the postwar consensus was itself a precarious cultural ideal that was characterized by internal tensions and, while containing elements of conservatism, reflected considerable diversity in the way in which citizenship identities were defined. Contributors include Denyse Baillargeon (Université de Montréal), P.E. Bryden (Mount Allison University), Nancy Christie, Michael Gauvreau, Karine Hebert (Carleton University), Len Kuffert (Carleton University), and Peter S. McInnis (St Francis Xavier University).
