Sommario/riassunto	Within the framework of the Inter-university Network of History of the Iberian World from the Old Regime to Independence, in which the Argentine national universities of La Plata, Rosario and Mar del Plata participate, and the Spanish universities of Cantabria and the Basque Country, organized on April 25, 2014 the Day of Modern History: Territorial articulation in the plural spaces of the Iberian Monarchies (XVI-XVIII centuries). This publication brings together -in the same bibliographic body- the different papers that made up the central tables of these Days based on the material worked by each of the participating authors.
