

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910137929603321
Autore	Siegel Lawrence M. <1946->
Titolo	The Human Right to Language : Communication Access for Deaf Children / / Lawrence M. Siegel
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Washington, District of Columbia : , : Gallaudet University Press, , 2008 ©2008
ISBN	9781563684210 1563684217
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (xv, 164 p. )
Disciplina	344.73/079112
Soggetti	Deaf people - Means of communication Hard of hearing children - Education - United States Deaf children - Education - United States Hard of hearing people - Legal status, laws, etc - United States Deaf people - Legal status, laws, etc - United States Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Includes index.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	The importance of communication and language -- Communication, language, and education -- The First Amendment : the broad right to express and receive information and ideas -- The First Amendment and freedom of association -- The importance of the First Amendment : protecting the extremes of speech -- Introduction to the Fourteenth Amendment -- Equal protection and the place of education in American society -- Equal protection and the right to communication and language -- The application of bilingual-education law and programs to deaf and hard of hearing students -- A proposal.
Sommario/riassunto	"In 1982, the United States Supreme Court ruled that Amy Rowley, a deaf six-year-old, was not entitled to have a sign language interpreter in her public school classroom. Lawrence M. Siegel wholeheartedly disagrees with this decision in these pages. Instead, he contends that the United States Constitution should protect every deaf and hard of hearing child's right to communication and language as part of an individual's right to liberty. Siegel argues that when a deaf or hard of hearing child sits alone in a crowded classroom and is unable to access the rich and varied communication about her, the child is denied any chance of success in life."--Jacket.

---