

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910146251203321
Autore	Godfrey Matthew C. <1972->
Titolo	Religion, politics, and sugar : the Mormon Church, the federal government, and the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, 1907-1921 // Matthew C. Godfrey
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Logan, Utah, : Utah State University Press, c2007
ISBN	9780874215489 087421548X
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (234 p.)
Collana	Life Writings Frontier Women
Disciplina	338.7/6641230973
Soggetti	Beet sugar industry - United States - History Sugar trade - Government policy - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 209-219) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction -- The establishment of the sugar industry in Utah and Idaho, 1851-1907 -- Before the Hardwick Committee of the House of Representatives -- National sugar policies and the First World War -- Political and legal troubles in the aftermath of the First World War -- Restraint of trade : Federal Trade Commission v. Utah-Idaho Sugar -- Conclusion.
Sommario/riassunto	One famous target of Progressive Era attempts to rein in monopolistic big business was the eastern Sugar Trust. Less known is how federal regulators also tried to break monopoly control over beet sugar in the West by going after the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, a business supported and controlled by the Latter-day Saints church and run by Mormon authorities. As sugar beet agriculture boomed, the Mormon church's involvement led directly to monopolistic practices by Utah-Idaho Sugar and to federal investigations. Church leaders encouraged members, a majority population in much of the intermountain