

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910148584103321
Autore	Meacham Leila <1938->
Titolo	Aly's house // Leila Meacham
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, New York : , : Grand Central Publishing, , [2016] ©2016
ISBN	1-4555-4134-6 1-4555-4135-4
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (165 pages)
Disciplina	813.54
Soggetti	Man-woman relationships
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Includes an excerpt from the author's "Titans."
Nota di contenuto	Cover -- Title Page -- Table of Contents -- Dedication -- Letter -- Chapter One -- Chapter Two -- Chapter Three -- Chapter Four -- Chapter Five -- Chapter Six -- Chapter Seven -- Chapter Eight -- Chapter Nine -- Chapter Ten -- Chapter Eleven -- Chapter Twelve -- Discover More Leila Meacham -- About the Author -- Also by Leila Meacham -- Praise -- The Books of Leila Meacham -- Copyright.
Sommario/riassunto	"Aly Kingston has only ever loved one man: Marshall Wayne. But she put all of those childish dreams behind her ages ago when the Waynes left town. Her father's victory at foreclosing on the Wayne family farm, the betrayal written all over Marshall's face-it all still lingers in her mind and in her heart. But now, years later, when he comes back home to Claiborne, Aly realizes so much has changed since Marshall's been away ... and so much remains the same. Seeing Aly again surprises Marshall Wayne. Gone is the gangly girl who followed him around. In her place is a beautiful woman with warmth and sensitivity, someone who makes him want to believe in love again. But Marshall is back home for one reason and one reason alone: to get revenge on the man who destroyed his family and to reclaim what rightfully belongs to him. As the past and the present collide, will Aly lose her heart to the man who's plotting to destroy her family? Or can she show Marshall that love runs deeper than vengeance?"--

