Sommario/riassunto	How did the agricultural year look in ancient times? Palladius's influential work on agriculture in late antiquity provides a detailed answer. It was widely disseminated during the Middle Ages and early modern period, and had a major influence on the development of farm work. For the first time, the 15 books that make up this work are made accessible in a Latin-German bilingual edition. Im Märzen der Bauer die Rösslein einspannt ... Doch wie sah das Bauernjahr in der Antike aus? Eine umfassende Antwort bietet das dennoch kompakte Werk des Palladius aus der Spätantike. Auf ein einleitendes erstes Buch folgen zwölf je einem Monat gewidmete Bücher, in denen die Arbeiten auf einem römischen Bauernhof von Januar bis Dezember beschrieben werden. Das vierzehnte Buch handelt von der Veterinärmedizin, das letzte erörtert die Baumveredelung. Die von Palladius erstmals genutzte originelle Anordnung nach Monaten eröffnet neue Perspektiven auf die Agrargeschichte des Altertums. Das

Werk war in Mittelalter und früher Neuzeit weit verbreitet, wovon eine Vielzahl von Abschriften und frühen Drucken sowie volkssprachliche Versionen mit weitgehendem Einfluss auf die Entwicklung bäuerlichen Arbeitens zeugen. Es wird hier erstmals zweisprachig zugänglich gemacht.

Sommario/riassunto	"Gerald Howard-Smith's life is intriguing both in its own right and as a vehicle for exploring the world in which he lived. Tall, boisterous and sometimes rather irascible, he was one of the so-called 'Lost Generation' whose lives were cut short by the First World War. Brought up in London, and educated at Eton and Cambridge, he excelled both at cricket and athletics. After qualifying as a solicitor he moved to Wolverhampton and threw himself into the local sporting scene, making a considerable name for himself in the years before the First World War. Volunteering for military service in 1914, he was decorated for bravery before being killed in action two years later. Reporting his death, the War History of the South Staffordshire Regiment claimed that, 'In his men's eyes he lived as a loose-limbed hero, and in him they lost a very humorous and a very gallant gentleman.' As well as telling the fascinating story of Gerald Howard-Smith for the first time, this important new biography explores such complex and important issues as childhood and adolescence, class relations, sporting achievement, manliness and masculinity, metropolitan-provincial relationships, and forms of commemoration. It will therefore be of interest to educationalists, sports historians, local and regional historians, and those interested in class, gender and civilian-military relations--indeed all those seeking to understand the economic, social, and cultural life of late nineteenth and early twentieth-century Britain"--Publisher description.
