

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910154315003321
Autore	Shaw Caroline
Titolo	Britannia's embrace : modern humanitarianism and the imperial origins of refugee relief
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York : , : Oxford University Press, , 2015
ISBN	0-19-020100-2 0-19-020101-0
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource : illustrations (black and white), maps (black and white)
Classificazione	HIS015000POL035010HIS037060
Disciplina	362.87/80941 362.8780941
Soggetti	Refugees - History - 19th century - Great Britain Political refugees - History - 19th century - Great Britain Humanitarianism - History - 19th century - Great Britain Refugees - History - Government policy - 19th century - Great Britain Asylum, Right of - History - 19th century - Great Britain Imperialism - History - Social aspects - 19th century - Great Britain Liberalism - Great Britain - History - 19th century Social Welfare & Social Work Social Sciences Social Welfare & Social Work - General Great Britain Emigration and immigration History 19th century Great Britain Politics and government 19th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction: Britannia's Embrace -- Part I. The Rise of Liberal Refuge -- Catholic Emigres and the Protestant Nation -- The Consolation of Refuge -- Telling Stories, Taking Action -- Taking Refuge in Empire -- Colonial Refuge in the Metropolitan Eye -- Part II. A National Tradition or a Universal Right? : Refuge and the Law -- Heroes, Villains, and the Parameters of Political Asylum -- Probing the Limits of Imperial Humanitarianism -- Hardening the Humanitarian Heart -- Conclusion: Moral Politics and the Quest for a Language of Right.

Sommario/riassunto

'Britannia's Embrace' offers the first historical examination of the origins of refuge for persecuted foreigners. It argues that this modern humanitarian norm - the responsibility to protect foreign refugees of any race, class, politics, or creed - developed in nineteenth-century Britain through a popular movement that equated the provision of refuge with a national liberal identity and compelled even the most powerful politicians to heed its demands. The public's moral enthusiasm for foreign refugees ironically drew strength from the political and physical resources of the British Empire.

---