

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910818669403321
Autore	Zheng Lili <1983->
Titolo	L'analyse des donnees de sondage avec SPSS : un guide d'introduction / / Lili Zheng [and five others]
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Quebec : , : Presses de l'Universite du Quebec, , [2018] ©2018
ISBN	2-7605-4915-1
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (142 pages)
Collana	Collection Mesure et evaluation
Disciplina	005.55
Soggetti	Social sciences - Statistical methods Social sciences - Computer programs
Lingua di pubblicazione	Francese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references.
Nota di contenuto	Chapitre 1. Description de l'application -- Chapitre 2. Presentation de la recherche -- Chapitre 3. Codage d'un questionnaire et entree des donnees -- Chapitre 4. Nettoyage et decouverte -- Chapitre 5. Production des rapports et des statistiques -- Chapitre 6. Quelques operations pratiques -- Chapitre 7. Statistiques sous forme de graphiques.
Sommario/riassunto	"Dans le domaine de la recherche, les sondages occupent une place preponderante dans la quete de comprehension des phenomenes. Le traitement efficace et efficient des donnees qui resultent des sondages necessite l'utilisation d'un logiciel facilitant la saisie et la production de statistiques, et ce, de facon flexible et conviviale. Les auteurs de L'analyse des donnees de sondage avec SPSS sont d'avis que le logiciel de statistiques SPSS convient parfaitement a l'accomplissement de cette tache. Comme pour tout logiciel, l'utilisation de SPSS necessite un certain apprentissage et, pour apprivoiser ses fonctionnalites, rien ne vaut un bon accompagnement. Le present ouvrage, concu comme un outil d'autoformation, guide l'utilisateur en demystifiant SPSS. Il ne vise pas a remplacer le manuel de reference du logiciel, mais cherche plutot a accompagner le lecteur dans sa premiere exploration de ce dernier et a l'aider a franchir le seuil, soit l'apprivoisement des manipulations de base. Ce manuel s'adresse aux analystes de marche, aux economistes, aux professionnels du domaine social, aux etudiants et aux neophytes ayant besoin de notions methodologiques. Ceux-ci trouveront des explications detaillees pour entrer des donnees et produire des statistiques descriptives usuelles, notamment des distributions de frequences et des tableaux croises. Ils verront egalement comment illustrer les distributions par des graphiques. Grace a ce livre, quelques heures suffiront pour se familiariser avec SPSS."--

2. Record Nr.	UNINA9910867295803321
Titolo	Arman-i pardazish : faslnamah-i takhassus-i fannavari-i ittilaat va irtibatat
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Tihran : , : Danishgah-i Azad-i Islami : , : Vahid-i Khudabandah, , 1399 [2020]-
ISSN	2783-4549
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource : illustrations
Soggetti	Information technology Communication of technical information Communication and technology Periodicals.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Persiano
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Periodico

3. Record Nr.	UNINA9910154633603321
Autore	Estlund Cynthia
Titolo	A new deal for China's workers? // Cynthia Estlund
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Cambridge, MA : , : Harvard University Press, , [2018] ©2017
ISBN	9780674973329 0674973321 9780674973299 0674973291
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (302 pages) : illustrations
Disciplina	331.0951
Soggetti	Industrial relations - China Labor policy - China Labor unions - China Comparative industrial relations
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Frontmatter -- Contents -- Preface -- 1. Introduction -- 2. The Rise of China, and of Labor Protest, in the Reform Era -- 3. Who Speaks for China's Workers? The ACFTU and Labor NGOs -- 4. How Did the New Deal Resolve the American "Labor Question"? Bringing a Comparative Lens into Focus -- 5. Can China Regulate Its Way out of Labor Unrest? Rising Labor Standards and the Enforcement Gap -- 6. Can China Secure Labor Peace without Independent Unions? Strikes and Collective Bargaining with Chinese Characteristics -- 7. What Does Democracy Look Like in China? Reforming Grassroots Union Elections -- 8. Will Workers Have a Voice in the "Socialist Market Economy"? The Curious Revival of the Worker Congress System -- 9. Conclusion -- Notes -- Index
Sommario/riassunto	China's labor landscape is changing, and it is transforming the global economy in ways that we cannot afford to ignore. Once-silent workers have found their voice, organizing momentous protests, such as the 2010 Honda strikes, and demanding a better deal. China's leaders have responded not only with repression but with reforms. Are China's workers on the verge of a breakthrough in industrial relations and labor law reminiscent of the American New Deal? In A New Deal for China's Workers? Cynthia Estlund views this changing landscape through the comparative lens of America's twentieth-century experience with industrial unrest. China's leaders hope to replicate the widely shared prosperity, political legitimacy, and stability that flowed from America's New Deal, but they are irrevocably opposed to the independent trade unions and mass mobilization that were central to bringing it about. Estlund argues that the specter of an independent labor movement, seen as an existential threat to China's one-party regime, is both driving and constraining every facet of its response to restless workers. China's leaders draw on an increasingly sophisticated toolkit in their effort to contain worker activism. The result is a surprising mix of repression and concession, confrontation and cooptation, flaws and functionality, rigidity and pragmatism. If China's laborers achieve a New Deal, it will be a New Deal with Chinese characteristics, very unlike what workers in the West achieved in the last century. Estlund's sharp observations and crisp comparative analysis make China's labor unrest and reform legible to Western readers.
