

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910155511703321
Autore	Carnegie Andrew
Titolo	The autobiography of Andrew Carnegie / / Andrew Carnegie
Pubbl/distr/stampa	[New York, New York] : , : Sheba Blake Publishing, , 2014 ©2014
ISBN	1-304-87687-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (901 p.)
Disciplina	338.7/672092 338.7672092
Soggetti	Industrialists - United States Philanthropists - United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Sommario/riassunto	Of the many 'rags to riches' stories in US history, Andrew Carnegie's is one of the most fascinating. After immigrating from Scotland when he was a child, he worked his way up through a telegraph company, and with sheer determination and hard work, his investments in the railroads and steel made him one of the richest man in the world. This story wouldn't be so interesting if he'd died with all of his loot: before he kicked the bucket he had given away 90% of his money. His philanthropy funded thousands of libraries, music halls and parks that were free to the public. Super-rich computer mogu