Sommario/riassunto	His playful seduction was hard to resist...Music teacher Ann Green moved to Bay Shore to protect her heavily-guarded heart. But when she meets a handsome fisherman who tests her resolve to stay single, she loses all control. Now she is stuck between the painful memory of her father's betrayal, and the man who just might be her future. A boundless hunger has taken over...Andrew Rybak has taken care of his two younger siblings since his mother's ongoing drug addiction began. But he secretly aches to escape Bay Shore, and leave all his responsibility behind, until a beautiful stranger moves into town, and opens his eyes to a new future. But will she trust him enough to open her heart? Especially as his inner passions are ignited, and everything he's been holding back comes pouring out at once. Irresistible Desire is Book 2 in the Bay Shore series by contemporary romance author Susan V. Vaughan.
