Tipping the Scales from romantic comedy author Michelle Hoppe is a laugh-out-loud fantasy that will keep you entertained from beginning to end! Find out if true love can conquer all or if the scales tip on romance. About to be unemployed, Cupid has a last chance to prove he is worthy of keeping his bow...restore true love to a world where personal relationships have taken a nose dive. With more interference than a football game, Cupid tries to find the perfect man for Mary before The Benevolent Order of Heavenly Souls rip off his wings and consign him to a job filing forms in the basement. Janalee, of The Romance Studio had this to say about Tipping the Scales ... "a witty and naughty look at how Cupid handles love and lovers. The premise is unique and entertaining. This is a lot fun wrapped-up in a book!" This contemporary fantasy contains romantic comedy, adult language and situations, and is not intended for readers under the age of 18.
