Sommario/riassunto	The author of Wild Women Do on crimes committed by females in Singapore returns with a new collection on local crime. This time round, it's the men who are up to no good and exposed here are cases of murders, sexual demeanours and fraud. The spurned lover who sets his former girlfriend on fire; the police staff sergeant who commits a double murder in Kovan; the fatal accident that caused 400 men to riot in Little India; two good friends who kidnapped a millionaire's mother. These are the stories of the men who have committed heinous crimes and run afoul of the law.
