Sommario/riassunto	A short story SciFi Alien Romance. A sequel to the Alien Attachments novel series. After the fall of their empire, the Sandarians struggled for order and peace, hiding their existence from the people of Earth. Until now. Under the guardianship of the Sandarians, it is a new world where fleets of ships circle the globe to protect the vulnerable human race. Kara Heroshi breaks free from a controlling adoptive mother to begin a new life in London. She is both captivated and fearful of the alien Sandarian ship shining above the skyline of London-a beacon of power and allure. Torril Anantha struggles to acclimate himself to life on Earth. The frailty of humanity disturbs him. But when one black-haired beauty ensnares his senses as well as his heart, he finally faces the difficult truth-his psi-mate is human. While Kara is lured by the seductive Sandarian male, can she overcome her fears of being controlled and solidify the bond with Torril-the alien who is fated as her one true mate?
