Sommario/riassunto	Europe Seen Through the Eyes of an American "The Germans are exceedingly fond of Rhine wines; they are put up in tall, slender bottles, and are considered a pleasant beverage. One tells them from vinegar by the label." - Mark Twain, A Tramp Abroad Mark Twain decides to discover Europe, more specifically, Germany, the Alps and Italy. But he doesn't do it in the old-fashioned way marveling at the wonders of the Old World; in fact, he has a humoristic approach ironizing both the Europeans and the Americans alike. What about Paris and Venice you wonder? "The Greatest Lies Ever Told!" This book has been professionally formatted for e-readers and contains a bonus book club leadership guide and discussion questions. We hope you'll share this book with your friends, neighbors and colleagues and can't wait to hear what you have to say about it.
