Sommario/riassunto	Mission Beyond Darkness recounts the harrowing experiences of Air Group 16 during the First Battle of the Philippines in World War II. The narrative focuses on the U.S. Navy's Task Force 58, commanded by Vice-Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, as they launched a daring aerial attack against the Japanese fleet on June 19, 1944. The book details the contributions of the fighter, torpedo, and bombing squadrons based on the USS Lexington and other carriers, emphasizing the bravery and skill of the sixty-four men involved. Drawn from firsthand accounts and survivor narratives, the book provides an authentic portrayal of naval aviation warfare. It is intended for readers interested in military history and naval operations.
