| Sommario/riassunto | Liliana's Fan Liliana is twelve years old when a strange illness takes possession of her mother. The forest they live near seems to somehow be linked to the illness as well as to the bamboo fan that her mother gave her, so it is up to Liliana to discover the mysteries of the forest. What discoveries and magic did the forest and her fan hide? Liliana intrinsically knows that the answer to this question would solve the mystery of her mother's illness, but if she could find out, would this answer be enough to save her mother? Liliana's Summer Liliana goes to school, hangs out with friends, and has a typical young teenage life, except that she also protects a marvelous magical tree in the Redwoods, talks telepathically to animals, and has knowledge about the mystical Guardian Realm. She does not hesitate to go to the mysterious realm where her dreams live. But expectation rarely is the same as reality. Liliana has many surprises awaiting her. The Guardian Realm becomes something other than the paradise that she hoped it to be, for there, a realization awaits that will open her mind to a mission she must fulfill. Liliana & Felip Three years have passed since Liliana has come back from the Guardian Realm. She is now in eleventh grade, and her life has gotten back some sense of normalcy. Even boys have started to pay attention to her, although she is mostly oblivious to their affections because she still has a mission to accomplish, which will lead her back to adventure. Felip, on the other hand, has had a life that is |

anything but normal. With only the guidance of animals, he ventures into the unknown to find his forgotten family. Liliana's Realms Storms ravage the Guardian Realm, Greg is lost, Felip walks in uncharted territory, and the troupe of kids led by Liliana is in disarray. And worse still is that Liliana has little power to control any of it. How is she supposed to save the realm when she can barely save herself?
