

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910162727403321
Autore	Boyce Trudy Nan
Titolo	Old Bones
Pubbl/distr/stampa	East Rutherford : , : Penguin Publishing Group, , 2017 ©2017
ISBN	0-698-14071-0
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (317 pages)
Collana	A Detective Sarah Alt Novel ; ; v.2
Classificazione	FIC022000FIC022020FIC050000
Disciplina	813.6
Soggetti	Women detectives
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Sommario/riassunto	"A timely and penetrating mystery about the intersection of policing, racism, and the community--set in a city at its boiling point--from an author who's been in the trenches and seen it all. A senseless act of violence. During a vigil calling for police reform, students from Spelman College, a historically black women's institution, are assaulted by rifle fire from a passing vehicle. On her way to interview witnesses, Detective Sarah "Salt" Alt confronts the fleeing vehicle of the suspects, but they get away. A city in turmoil. While other detectives take the lead on the Spelman murders, Salt is tasked to investigate the case of a recently discovered decomposed body. When she combs through the missing-persons reports, it becomes clear the victim is a girl Salt took into custody two years before, and Salt feels a grave responsibility to learn the truth about how the girl died. But before she can pursue any leads, Salt is called onto emergency riot detail--in the wake of the assault on the Spelman students, Atlanta has reached the boiling point. In a city burdened by history and a community erupting in pain and anger, Salt must delve into the past for answers. A gripping and astute story about what it means to serve and protect, Old Bones solidifies Trudy Nan Boyce as an evocative, authoritative voice in crime fiction"--