Sommario/riassunto

A broken promise from their school days at Spelman College takes three successful friends in Atlanta to unexpected and unplanned for destinations as their personal demons drastically alter their friendship and their destinies. The first friend leads a secret life of multiple personas that allows her to escape her own reality and ease into a life of deception long before her true identity is discovered. At the pinnacle of her career, the second friend is self-driven, sexually suppressed, and highly explosive . . . blowing up at anyone that crosses her path. Her domineering ambition drives her into a collision course with herself and steers her in an unexpected direction that becomes life-altering. The third friend is a single mother seeking refuge from a regretful past that has finally caught up with her present. Just when she thinks her future is solid, it begins to crumble as her fate is altered by a past romance which resurfaces . . . resulting in an unexpected resolution. What does it all mean for their friendship and are they all headed on a collision course with disaster?
