Sommario/riassunto

The Guadalcanal Campaign, authored by Major John L. Zimmerman, is a historical monograph detailing the first major offensive by U.S. forces in World War II, conducted by the United States Navy and Marine Corps in August 1942. This comprehensive account explores the strategic importance of the campaign in halting the Japanese advance in the Pacific. The book provides an in-depth narrative of operational planning, key battles, and the eventual success of American forces in securing Guadalcanal. The monograph is part of a series aimed at providing accurate historical narratives of Marine Corps operations during the war, with contributions from various military historians and experts. It is intended for both military scholars and general readers interested in World War II history.
