Sommario/riassunto

This book, 'CARTWHEEL: The Reduction of Rabaul' by John Miller Jr., is a detailed historical account of the United States Army's operations in the Pacific during World War II. It focuses on the CARTWHEEL campaign, a significant military operation aimed at isolating and neutralizing the Japanese stronghold of Rabaul. The author provides an in-depth analysis of the strategies and tactics used by the Allied forces, highlighting the coordination between land, sea, and air operations. The book also examines the development of American military strategy in the Pacific, emphasizing the importance of unity of command and the innovative use of bypassing fortified positions. It is intended for military historians, professional officers, and general readers interested in World War II history.
