Sommario/riassunto

This publication is the private journal of Francis Seymour Larpent, who served as the Judge Advocate General of the British forces during the Peninsular War, under the command of Lord Wellington. The journal, originally published in 1853 and edited by Sir George Larpent, offers a detailed account of Larpent's experiences and observations from 1812 until the end of the war. It includes personal anecdotes, military insights, and reflections on the conduct of the war, as well as Larpent's interactions with prominent figures of the era. Aimed at providing historical insights, the journal is valuable for historians and readers interested in military history and the Napoleonic Wars.
