Sommario/riassunto	Carla Moore gets more than she bargained for when her wild fling draws her into the dangerous world of the mob. Filled with passion and suspense, Blaise Kilgallen's scorching romance, Wild Knights, will keep you on the edge of your seat. What thirty-seven year old, sex-deprived widow wouldn't welcome a hot fling with a younger, handsome hunk? Just ask Carla Moore. When she sees Evan Lupo tending the rose garden at Riverside Seniors' Spa where she works, her dormant libido blazes into an obsession for a wild (k)night or two of mind-bending, physical sex. Evan prefers experienced, mature women. On sudden impulse, he asks Carla out for dinner. When he's sure she's as hot for him as he is for her, he tells her he'd act her "Stud for the Night." Their short affair explodes into days and nights of torrid, experimental lovemaking. Connected to the "mob" since birth, Evan's aging Mafioso relation asks for a favor he can't refuse: learn who killed Lorenzo Lupo, Evan's father, 25 years ago. Uncle Tony believes a family member was involved in the bloody territorial clash. Evan hunts down ancient suspects without success until he and his hated cousin settle the matter.
