Sommario/riassunto	Courtney lives at home, doesn't go to college, and has no ambition whatsoever. The good news is that none of that bothers her or her best friend, Scout. Besties don't judge! But when Scout starts getting, well, aggressive, in the pursuit of her latest crush, some judgi-ness starts. Just how far does a friend let another friend go? Where do you draw the line between supporting her in her romantic life and telling her that she's turned into a complete weirdopath? Courtney's sure about to find out...
