| Sommario/riassunto      | The underground dream trade is growing hotter by the second, and the Dream Merchant's top delivery girl Jesse Davison wants out. She knows the ugly truth--that playing around with dreams can drive you crazy, or worse. But it turns out freeing herself from the Dream Merchant isn't Jesse's biggest worry, and neither is the fact that her feelings for ex-boyfriend Will are resurfacing with a vengeance. Strange things begin happening as she investigates the circumstances surrounding her mother's death in the sleepy mill town of Williamsville. Will's father remembers her in an instant, despite his severe dementia. Her realtor Tom disappears into thin air, and his assistant claims to have killed him. It's up to Jesse to get to the bottom of it all. And, unfortunately, working with Will seems to be the only way. As the crimes begin to mount, Jesse realizes that Will's memories, too, have been stolen, and it's only a matter of time before the thief comes for her. |
