

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910169658503321
Autore	Coleman Peter
Titolo	Arndt's story : the life of an Australian economist
Pubbl/distr/stampa	[Place of publication not identified], : Australian National University E Press, 2007
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (376 pages)
Disciplina	332.0994
Soggetti	Economists - Australia Business & Economics Economic Theory
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di contenuto	Arndt's Story -- Contents -- List of Illustrations -- Abbreviations -- Note on Sources -- Note on Authors -- Preface -- Prelude -- Part One -- 1. From Kaiser to Hitler -- 2. Oxford Made Him -- 3. Arndt in the Internment Camp -- 4. Chatham House -- Part Two -- 5. Passage to Australia -- 6. The University of Sydney -- 7. Public Intellectual -- 8. Ruth's Trip to Europe -- 9. New Horizons -- 10. Canberra University College -- 11. Canberra -- 12. South Carolina -- 13. Politics -- 14. Economics and Policy -- 15. Geneva -- 16. A New Lease of Intellectual Life -- Part Three -- 17. Economic Development in Practice -- 18. The Department of Economics, RSPS, 1963-80 -- 19. Sukarno's Indonesia -- 20. Suharto's Indonesia -- 21. Other Parts of Asia -- 22. Retirement -- Postlude -- Notes -- References -- Index.
Sommario/riassunto	The year of Heinz Wolfgang Arndt's birth, 1915, was not a good time for a German boy to be born. His country was soon to be defeated in a great war, his school years were shadowed by the rise of Hitler. Yet when Heinz's long-buried Jewish background led his academic father to lose his chair in chemistry and flee to Oxford, Heinz followed.