Record Nr. UNINA9910170977003321

Autore Rosenberg Gary

Titolo Behavioral Social Work in Health Care Settings

Pubbl/distr/stampa Haworth Press, Inc

Descrizione fisica 1 online resource (130 p.) : ill

Lingua di pubblicazione Francese

Formato Materiale a stampa

Livello bibliografico Monografia

Sommario/riassunto

An essential resource for social work professionals! As the focus of the health care industry shifts from predominantly hospital-based care to out-patient managed care, social workers must adapt to a new environment. Owing to changes driven by major advances in medical care knowledge, technology, and skill, new issues in ethics, practice, and policy have arisen. Behavioral Social Work in Health Care Settings addresses the impact that changing patterns in health care delivery have had (and will continue to have) on social work professionals, presenting a thoughtful collection of articles that combine research with practical experience. Behavioral Social Work in Health Care Settings looks at a range of critical issues facing health care social work professionals, including:building a social support system for the patientadopting a biopyschosocial approach to medical educationevaluating social work interventions in health careaddressing economic, quality-of-life, and ethical concerns of organ recipientsmaintaining a client-based focus on health careand also includes a study of the psychosocial needs of patients in a large urban medical centerRequired reading for social work administrators. practitioners, teachers, and students, Behavioral Social Work in Health Care Settings represents presentations from the Seventh Doris Siegel Memorial Colloquium, which called for the critical examination of changes in health care delivery brought about by financial pressures from government levels and private insurers.