Sommario/riassunto	The assignment for this text was given by the Market, State and Society project group of the WRR. A number of external authors were asked to describe in detail how the process of matching supply and demand works in practice. Unlike the theory, supply and demand, price and quality do not happen automatically; this raises a second question, namely what role the government plays in this process. The series of WRR web publications includes studies that have been produced as part of the work of the WRR. The responsibility for the content and the positions taken rests with the authors.
