

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910298077703321
Titolo	Masculinities in a global era // Joseph Gelfer, editor
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, : Springer, 2013
ISBN	1-4614-6931-7
Edizione	[1st ed. 2014.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (269 p.)
Collana	International and cultural psychology
Altri autori (Persone)	GelferJoseph
Disciplina	155.332
Soggetti	Masculinity Sex role
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction -- Part 1: Theoretical Models: New Directions in Gender Role Conflict Research -- Will the Real Joseph Gelfer Please Stand Up: Multiple Masculinities and the Self -- Part 2: Masculinity and Stability -- Youthful Warrior Masculinities in Indonesia -- Men of Honor: Examining Individual Differences in Masculine Honor Beliefs -- "Men are Hard...Women are Soft": Muslim Men and the Construction of Masculine Identity -- Part 3: Masculinity Under Negotiation: Making the Global Bhadrakok?: Bengali Men and the Transnational Middle Class in India -- Better Men?" Gendered Culturalized Citizenship in Male Emancipation Projects in the Netherlands -- Fluid Masculinities? Case Study of the Kingdom of Bahrain -- Masculinity in Ambiguity: Constructing Taiwanese Masculine Identities between Great Powers -- Historical Sediments of Competing Gender Models in Indigenous Guatemala -- Part 4: Sexuality: Hypospadias, the "Bathroom Panopticon" and Men's Psychological and Social Urinary Practices -- Cannibals and Ghosts: Forms of Capital, Immobility and Dependence Among Former Javanese Sex Workers in South Bali -- Transgender Identity and Acceptance in a Global Era: The Muxes of Juchitán.
Sommario/riassunto	The ongoing movement toward globalization challenges us to reconsider issues of individual identity. Are we evolving into citizens of the world? How crucial is nationality? And for men, what does it now mean to be male? Diverse answers to this provocative question are analyzed in Masculinities in a Global Era in its theoretical models, study findings, and compelling examples. Multiple dynamics are displayed in these chapters--gender and sexuality, tradition and change, local and global, East and West--as male identity is defined as a work in progress in locations as disparate as Ireland and Indonesia. Contributors analyze the larger paradoxes and ambiguities of studying masculinity and globalization, and of the gender contexts of globalization as a social phenomenon. As a volume, the perspective is multinational, multiracial, sexually inclusive, and optimistic about globalization as a positive transformative force. Among the featured topics: Examining individual differences in masculine honor beliefs. Bengali men and the transnational middle class in India. Fluid masculinities: the case of Bahrain. Gendered cultured citizenship in male emancipation projects in the Netherlands. Hypospadias, the "Bathroom Panopticon." Transgender identity and acceptance: the Muxes of Juchitan, Mexico. Crossing myriad domains much like globalization itself, Masculinities in a Global Era is a thoughtful reference for researchers in a variety of disciplines, including cross-cultural studies, gender studies, sexuality, sociology, and developmental and cross-cultural psychology.

---