Sommario/riassunto	This book examines the position of 'contextual elements' as a constitutive element of the legal definition of the crime of genocide, and determines the extent to which an individual génocidaire is required to act within a particular genocidal context. Unlike other books in the field of the study of the crime of genocide, this book captures the nuance and the complex issues of the debate by providing book-length comprehensive examination of the position of contextual elements in light of the evolution of genocide as a concept and the literal legal definition of the crime of genocide, which expressly characterized the crime with only the existence of an individualistic intent to destroy a group. With scholars of international criminal law, students, researchers, practitioners in the field, and international criminal tribunals in mind, the author tackles many of the issues raised on the position of contextual elements in both academic literature and judicial decisions. Nasour Coursami is the Director of Applied Research and a Lecturer at the National School of Administration in Chad. He studied law at Cardiff and Bristol Universities and holds a Ph.D. in International Law from the University of Edinburgh.

Sommario/riassunto	Le Pakistan joue un rôle clé sur un échiquier géopolitique particulièrement mouvant, à la jonction du Moyen-Orient et du monde indien. Ce livre poursuit plusieurs buts : tout d'abord présenter le Pakistan dans une perspective historique. Il y a au moins cinq mille ans commence cette extraordinaire aventure qui se poursuit aujourd'hui : la transformation du désert en espace vert grâce à l'Indus et au plus formidable système de canaux d'irrigation jamais créé dans le monde. En 1987, le Pakistan a célébré son quarantième anniversaire, moment que choisit l'auteur pour dresser un bilan d'étape de ce nouvel État. Ce livre éclaire la toile de fond sur laquelle se déroulent la vie politique et économique du Pakistan et comment il se situe par rapport à d'autres pays d'Asie. Un livre de référence sur le Pakistan.
