

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910305558703321
Titolo	Civil society : challenging western models // edited by Chris Hann and Elizabeth Dunn
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London ; ; New York, : Routledge, 1996
ISBN	1-134-82708-3 1-134-82709-1 0-415-13218-5 1-280-05009-8 0-203-63386-5
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (253 p.)
Collana	European Association of Social Anthropologists
Altri autori (Persone)	HannC. M. <1953-> DunnElizabeth
Disciplina	306.2 301
Soggetti	Civil society
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Book Cover; Title; Contents; List of contributors; Acknowledgements; Introduction: political society and civil anthropology; Money, morality and modes of civil society among American Mormons; How Ernest Gellner got mugged on the streets of London, or: civil society, the media and the quality of life; Anti-semitism and fear of the public sphere in a post-totalitarian society: East Germany; The shifting meanings of civil and civic society in Poland; Bringing civil society to an uncivilised place: citizenship regimes in Russia's Arctic frontier The social life of projects: importing civil society to Albania Civic culture and Islam in urban Turkey; Gender, state and civil society in Jordan and Syria; The deployment of civil energy in Indonesia: assessment of an authentic solution; Community values and state cooptation: civil society in the Sichuan countryside; Making citizens in postwar Japan: national and local perspectives; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Between kinship ties on the one hand and the state on the other, human beings experience a diversity of social relationships and groupings which in modern western thought have come to be gathered under the label 'civil society'. A liberal-individualist model of civil society has become fashionable in recent years, but what can such a term mean in the late twentieth century? Civil Society argues that civil society should not be studied as a separate, 'private' realm clearly separated in opposition to the state; nor should it be confined to the institutions of the 'voluntary' or 'no

---