Sommario/riassunto	Ce livre analyse le débat posé entre l'Église catholique et le donatisme au cours du ve siècle dans les provinces africaines de l'Empire romain, au sujet de la coutume hérétique de rebaptiser les convertis qui arrivaient dans leur groupe. Cette querelle poussa saint Augustin à écrire De baptismo libri VII en prenant appui sur les ouvrages de Saint Cyprien, sans négliger le côté historique du conflit depuis ses débuts. Quoique le problème s'exprime comme une question théologique d'importance, on veut dépasser ce domaine et étudier le glissement du sujet vers le champ politique. On analyse alors la manière dont évolue, entre le IIIe et le début du ve siècle, la perception du rite baptismal et l'élaboration théorique que cela impliquait au regard des changements politiques survenus. Ce discours exprime les nuances de la lutte pour le contrôle des espaces de pouvoir institutionnel entre les Églises africaines.

Sommario/riassunto

This book assembles contributions dealing with language contact and areal linguistics. The goal of the book is to investigate linguistic convergence in Europe with a strong focus on the languages of Eastern Central Europe which show many remarkable similarities. The focus is put on a methodical and empirical component in the investigation of two or more languages in the context of possible language contact phenomena. Languages of Eastern Central Europe and adjacent parts of Europe use a considerable amount of common vocabulary due to the transfer of loanwords during a long period of cultural contact. But they also share several grammatical features—phonological, morphological and syntactic ones. This book tackles lexical and grammatical phenomena in language contact situations. The authors take up diachronic, synchronic and language acquisitional perspectives, and discuss methodological problems for the field.
