It represents a first-class basis for research into the history of people and the history of institutions at the University of Vienna, as well as the social history of the world of scholars. The register of records at the University of Vienna contains the data of academic staff and students, a total of 13,265 people from a period of 32 years registered. Sommario/riassunto	The Post-Cold War era witnessed a dramatic rise in breakthroughs for peace processes, including the Korean peninsula, between parties mired in protracted conflict. However, many such processes broke down within a short period of time. This book explores the possibilities for comprehensive and sustainable peacebuilding strategy in the Korean peace process, beyond reaching an agreement, by reviewing diverse peacebuilding activities from government and civil society. Dong Jin Kim is Irish Research Council and Marie Skodowska-Curie Actions Cofund CAROLINE Fellow at the Irish School of Ecumenics, Trinity College Dublin, Republic of Ireland. He is currently seconded to Corrymeela, Northern Ireland. Dr Kim's research focuses on sustainable peacebuilding in societies affected by protracted conflicts, such as Korea and Ireland.
