

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910345151703321
Autore	Knowles Warwick M
Titolo	Jordan since 1989 : a study in political economy
Pubbl/distr/stampa	[Place of publication not identified], : I B Tauris, 2005
ISBN	1-282-52776-2 9786612527760 0-85771-396-5 600-00-0845-7
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (286 pages)
Collana	Library of modern Middle East studies Jordan since 1989
Disciplina	330.9'5695044
Soggetti	Business & Economics Regions & Countries - Asia & the Middle East History & Archaeology Economic History Middle East Jordan Economic policy Jordan Foreign economic relations Jordan Politics and government
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di contenuto	Cover -- Contents -- List of Tables -- List of Figures -- Abbreviations -- Acknowledgements -- 1 - Introduction -- 2 - Theoretical Considerations -- 3 - Changing Patterns of the Rentier Economy -- 4 - State-Private Sector Relations: 1921 - 1989 -- 5 - The Changing Face of Rentierism: 1989-2002 -- 6 - Donor Community Involvement: 1989-2002 -- 7 - State, Rentier Elite and Conditionality: 1989 to 2002 -- 8 - The State-Market Interface: Which Political Economy? -- 9 - Concluding Comments -- Notes -- Bibliography -- Index.
Sommario/riassunto	This is the first major work in political economy to study the impact of the 1989 IMF intervention and the changes that it has wrought upon the Jordanian economy. Knowles argues that the blurring of boundaries between the public and private sector has significantly affected the success of IMF and World Bank policies in Jordan which are predicated upon a clear distinction between these sectors. Furthermore Jordan's move from an economy that is dependent upon outside economic assistance to one that is dependent upon remittances has affected the power of the country's elite which hitherto depended on access to and control of aid.
