| Sommario/riassunto | It is our great pleasure to publish the conference proceedings of 2020 12th International Conference on Machine Learning and Computing (ICMLC 2020) which was held in Shenzhen, China, during February 15- |

17, 2020. It brings together researchers, scientists, academics and engineers in the fields from different countries, and enables discussions and debates of relevant issues, challenges, opportunities and research findings. The primary focus of ICMLC 2020 is to provide participants with an excellent platform to share and exchange brilliant ideas of original research, and to build international links. We deliver our promise on helping create a bright picture and charming landscape for research and application.
