

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910427723003321
Autore	Majewski Pawe
Titolo	Between an Animal and a Machine : Stanisaw Lem's Technological Utopia / Malgorzata Kowalska, Pawe Majewski
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Frankfurt a.M. : PH02, 2018
Edizione	[1st, New ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (246 p.) : , EPDF
Collana	Modernity in Question ; 10
Soggetti	Philosophy Literary theory Literary studies: general Gender studies, gender groups
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Peter Lang GmbH, Internationaler Verlag der Wissenschaften
Nota di contenuto	Philosophy of Stanisaw Lem - Lemology pure and applied - Dialogues - Cybernetics as an anthropology - Summa Technologiae - Technology as Lifeworld - Autoevolution and posthumanism
Sommario/riassunto	The subject of this book is the philosophy of Stanisaw Lem. The first part contains an analysis and interpretation of one of his early works, The Dialogues. The author tries to show how Lem used the terminology of cybernetics to create a project of sociology and anthropology. The second part examines Lem's essay Summa technologiae, which is considered as the project of human autoevolution. The term «autoevolution» is a neologism for the concept of humans taking control over their own biological evolution and form in order to improve the conditions of their being. In this interpretation, Summa is an example of a liberal utopia, based on the assumption that all human problems can be resolved by science. Various social theories, which can be linked to the project of autoevolution, are presented in the final part.