1.	Record Nr.	UNINA9910450114203321
	Autore	Erickson John R. <1943->
	Titolo	Prairie gothic [[electronic resource]] : the story of a West Texas family / / John R. Erickson
	Pubbl/distr/stampa	Denton, Tex., : University of North Texas Press, c2005
	ISBN	1-280-73097-8
		9786610730971
		1-57441-400-3
		1-4337-1030-7
		1-4237-9794-9
	Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (225 p.)
	Collana	Frances B. Vick series ; ; no. 3
	Disciplina	813/.54
		B
	Soggetti	Novelists, American - 20th century - Family relationships
		Novelists, American - 20th century
		Rural families - Texas, West
		Electronic books.
		Texas, West Social life and customs
		Texas, West Biography
	Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
	Formato	Materiale a stampa
	Livello bibliografico	Monografia
	Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
	Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 193-198) and index.
	Nota di contenuto	Foreword; Preface; Chapter One: Anna Beth; Chapter Two: The Visit; Chapter Three: The Quakers; Chapter Four: Martha Sherman; Chapter Five: Cynthia Ann; Chapter Six: Loose Ends; Chapter Seven: J. Evetts Haley; Chapter Eight: John Graves; Chapter Nine: Joe Sherman; Chapter Ten: Max Coleman Remembers; Chapter Eleven: The Sherman Family; Chapter Twelve: Rachel and George Singer; Chapter Thirteen: The End of the Quaker Dream; Chapter Fourteen: Gaines County; Chapter Fifteen: Mable; Chapter Sixteen: Joe Sherman's Death; Chapter Seventeen: The Currys; Chapter Eighteen: Tom Ross Chapter Nineteen: Milt GoodChapter Twenty: Roger Sherman; Chapter Twenty-one: Roy, Burt, and Olive; Chapter Twenty-two: Decline; Chapter Twenty-three: Grandmother's Funeral; Chapter Twenty-four:

And Then There Was One; Chapter Twenty-five: Afterthoughts; References; Index

Sommario/riassunto	A book on Texas lore. Tells the story of people in the context of a specific place, the author creates a blend of family and regional history This book includes his encounters with famous Texas writers. Excerpts from journals, letters, and other original sources enrich the narrative.