

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910450296003321
Autore	Gergen Kenneth J
Titolo	Social construction in context [[electronic resource] /] / Kenneth J. Gergen
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London, : SAGE, c2001
ISBN	0-7619-6545-9 1-4462-2868-1 1-280-37005-X 9786610370054 1-4129-3213-0
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (241 p.)
Disciplina	302/.12
Soggetti	Social perception Subjectivity Cultural relativism Construction (Philosophy) Social sciences - Philosophy Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Cover; Contents; Acknowledgements; Preface; Introduction; Chapter 1 - Constructionism and Realism: A Necessary Collision?; Chapter 2 -The Place of the Psyche in Constructed World; Chapter 3 - The Limits of Pure Critique; Chapter 4 - Who Speaks and Who Responds in the Human Sciences?; Chapter 5 - History and Psychology: Conflict and Communion; Chapter 6 - Therapy as Social Construction; Chapter 7 - Social Construction and Pedagogical Practice; Chapter 8 - The Ethical Challenge of Global Organization; Chapter 9 - Organizational Science in a Postmodern Context Chapter 10 - From Identity Relational Politics Chapter 11 - Technology, Self and the Moral Project; Bibliography; Index
Sommario/riassunto	This book explores the potentials of social constructionist theory when placed in diverse intellectual and practical contexts. It demonstrates the achievements of social constructionism, and what it can now offer various fields of inquiry, both academic, professional and applied, given the proliferation of the theory across the social sciences and humanities.
