

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910450420603321
Autore	Harris Edward M (Monroe)
Titolo	Aeschines and Athenian politics // Edward M. Harris
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, New York ; ; Oxford, [England] : , : Oxford University Press, , 1995 ©1995
ISBN	1-280-44346-4 0-19-535950-X 1-60129-928-1
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (244 p.)
Disciplina	938/.07
Soggetti	Democracy - History Electronic books. Greece History Macedonian Expansion, 359-323 B.C Athens (Greece) Politics and government
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Introduction; 1. Whom to Believe?; 2. Family, Early Career, and Start in Politics; 3. Getting to Know Philip; 4. Peace at Last; 5. The End of the Third Sacred War; 6. Entre Deux Guerres; 7. Decline and Exit; 8. Conclusion; APPENDICES; Notes; References; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Filling a major gap in scholarship, this is the first full-length study of the Athenian politician Aeschines. Along with Isocrates, Aeschines was one of the most prominent Athenian politicians who advocated friendly ties with the Macedonian king Philip II. Though overshadowed by his famous rival Demosthenes, Aeschines played a key role in the decisive events that marked the rise of Macedonian power in Greece and formed the transition from the Classical to the Hellenistic period. Three long speeches by Aeschines, all delivered in court battles with his opponent Demosthenes, have been preserved