

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910450891103321
Titolo	Setting the moral compass [[electronic resource]] : essays by women philosophers // edited by Cheshire Calhoun
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Oxford ; ; New York, : Oxford University Press, 2004
ISBN	1-280-50224-X 0-19-534826-5 1-4237-6291-6
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (399 p.)
Collana	Studies in feminist philosophy
Altri autori (Persone)	CalhounCheshire
Disciplina	170/.82
Soggetti	Ethics Feminist ethics Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Contributors; Introduction; I: An Ethics for Ordinary Life and Vulnerable Persons; II: What We Ought to Do for Each Other; III: The Normative Importance of a Shared Social World; IV: Achieving Adequate Moral Understandings; V: The Dramatic and Narrative Form of Deliberation and Agency; VI: Emotions, Reason, and Unreason; Index
Sommario/riassunto	This book brings together 19 women moral philosophers who have contributed to re-setting the compass of moral philosophy over the past two decades. This collection makes visible women moral philosophers' varied conceptions of the proper subjects, audiences, and purposes of moral philosophy.