

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910450907003321
Autore	McCargo Duncan
Titolo	Media and politics in Pacific Asia // Duncan McCargo
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London ; ; New York : , : RoutledgeCurzon, , 2003
ISBN	0-415-23375-5 1-134-56865-7 1-280-04945-6 0-203-40254-5
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (196 p.)
Collana	Politics in Asia series
Classificazione	89.56 05.30
Disciplina	302.23/091823
Soggetti	Mass media - Political aspects - Pacific Area Electronic books. Pacific Area Politics and government
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. [165]-176) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction: politics and media in Pacific Asia -- Media in times of crisis: media and democratic transitions in Southeast Asia -- Media in peacetime? Press and television in Japan -- Media as an agent of stability? Suharto's Indonesia -- Media in a time of transition: Hong Kong -- International media and domestic politics: tales from Thailand.
Sommario/riassunto	Media and Politics in Pacific Asia is the first book to provide a detailed account of the political influences exerted by both domestic and international media in Pacific Asia. Duncan McCargo argues that the media are political actors and institutions in their own right, and that as such they can play a variety of political roles, some of which support processes of demographic transition and consolidation, and some which do just the opposite. Drawing on first-hand research in Hong Kong, Indonesia, Japan and Thailand - and employing comparative examples that include Burma, Mal