

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910451027003321
Autore	Sarma Deepak <1969->
Titolo	Epistemologies and the limitations of philosophical inquiry [[electronic resource]] : doctrine in Madhva Vedanta / / Deepak Sarma
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London ; ; New York, : RoutledgeCurzon, 2005
ISBN	1-134-39623-6 1-280-09604-7 9786610096046 0-203-48813-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (116 p.)
Collana	RoutledgeCurzon Hindu studies series
Disciplina	181/.4841
Soggetti	Advaita Vedanta Social epistemology Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 80-94) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Book Cover; Title; Contents; Foreword; Preface; Acknowledgments; Insider epistemologies; Madhva Vedanta in medieval Karaaka; The Madhva insider epistemology; Madhvacarya's epistemology and the limitations of philosophical inquiry; Appendix A; Abbreviations used in notes; Notes; Bibliography; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Deepak Sarma explores the degree to which outsiders can understand and interpret the doctrine of the Madhva school of Vedanta. The school is based on insider epistemology which is so restrictive that few can learn its intricate doctrines. This book reveals the complexity of studying traditions based on insider epistemologies and encourages its audience to ponder both the value and the hazards of granting any outsider the authority and opportunity to derive important insights into a tradition as an insider.