

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910451554503321
Autore	Odih Pamela
Titolo	Gender and Work in Capitalist Economies [[electronic resource]]
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Maidenhead, : McGraw-Hill Education, 2007
ISBN	1-281-33098-1 0-335-23497-6
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (225 p.)
Disciplina	306.361
Soggetti	Hours of labor Industries Sex role in the work environment Women Business & Economics Labor & Workers' Economics Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	Front cover; Half title; Series editor; Title page; Copyright; Dedication; Contents; Preface; Acknowledgements; Series editor's preface; Illustration Credits; Introduction: Gender, capitalist accumulation and the political economy of time; PART I Industrial Times; Chapter 1 Primitive accumulation and gendered histories of dispossession; Chapter 2 Weaving time: Gender and the rise of the British textile industry in the nineteenth century; Chapter 3 Economies of time and gender in industrial capitalism; PART II Fordist Times; Chapter 4 Gender and identity in modern times Chapter 5 Gender and modern workPART III Post-Fordist Times; Chapter 6 Post-Fordist production and the time-disciplined call centre With David Knights; Chapter 7 Flexible work and the restructuring of gender identity; PART IV Global Times; Chapter 8 Women, work and inequality in the global assembly-line; Conclusion: Towards a politics of gender, work and time; References; Index; Back cover
Sommario/riassunto	Provides an intervention into Marxist analysis of time and capitalist accumulation, and looks at how in contemporary regimes this translates as the universal appropriation of women's labour time. This book explores industrial and post-industrial times as moments in a longer-term trend and accelerated rates of disaggregated production.
